THE KING IMPROVES

Indications Point to a Speedy Recovery from Recent Illness.

A GREAT CEREMONY

Higher Clergy of the Church of England Hold Services in the House Where the King Was to Have Been Crowned.

London, June 26.—King Edward's progress in convalescence occasions greatest satisfaction in all official circles.

His majesty is already displaying the greatest interest in all public questions and is expressing his gratitude over evidences of the world's solicitude by opening a number of telegrams with his own hands. This action excited him slightly causing him some restlessness during the night and aroused some trifling solicitude on the part of the attendant doctors. All this really was unimportant as his majesty soon quieted down and, on the whole, rested satisfactorily.

The improvement in the king's condition early this morning was most marked. Everybody in Buckingham Palace is delighted, and high hopes are entertained that his convalescence will be much more speedy than was expected. At no time has there been any serious suggestion of establishment of a regency.

Most that was done was in the way of pure speculation on the suggestion that the Prince of Wales might act for his father as King Edward (then Prince of Wales) frequently did for Queen Victoria in former days, and particularly during her last illness, but without having formally been appointed.

The good news given out at Buckingham Palace occasioned the liveliest satisfaction to all persons collected at the palace and elsewhere awaiting tidings from the sick chamber.

The absence of ambiguity in the language of medical bulletin has done much to restore confidence in the public mind in regard to the outcome of the king's illness.

King Edward saw members of his family during the morning. The queen remained at the palace.

In most of the churches throughout the land services, which were to commemorate the coronation of King Edward, are taking place in the form of intercessory services.

At the house where the king should have been crowned a great and distinguished gathering, almost identical with that which would have to sit in Westminster Abbey, gathered in St. Paul's cathedral.

Approaches to the cathedral were lined by silent throngs through which drove peers and peeresses, colonial premiers, foreign ambassadors and members of the house of commons, all in sombre clothes.

Shortly before noon the big western doors were swung open, sunlight streamed in and the Duke of Cambridge, leaning heavily on the arm of an equerry, walked to the chancel as 12 o'clock struck there arose from the far end of the nave clear notes of opening sentences of litany chanted by four of cathedral clergy. The choir took up the responses.

At each supplication, a procession with the cross at the head advanced a few steps and then stood still while the response was completed, until the chancel steps were reached.

A score of clergy followed and behind them were ten bishops in gorgeous robes.

Then came the Most Reverend William Dalrymple McLagan, archbishop of York; Most Reverend Frederick Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Lord Mayor, Sir J. C. Damsdale, corporation, in full state, bringing up the rear.

With evident feeling the choir sang three psalms of intercession after which Rt. Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, bishop of Stepney, read the lesson. Then Rt. Reverend Arthur F. W. Wingham, bishop of London, from the altar steps read prayer: "O, Lord Save the King," his voice rang out to the furthest recesses of the dome and brought wholed response from the choir and congregation. The anthem and singing of the hymn: "Thine Arm O Lord, in Days of Old, Was Strong to Heal and Save," followed, and psalm 51 concluded the short service, whereupon the bishop of London, surrounded by archbishops and bishops, from the king's doctors have allowed themselves to express even to a small degree the hopeful feelings they undoubtedly even though privately entertained.

Forty-eight hours have now elapsed since the operation was performed and the absence of complications creates hopefulness in all quarters, although several days must pass before the possibility of danger can be eliminated.

Will Blackburn of Greenville, Miss., who is charged with killing G. M. Wray, has been given a life sentence.

CYCLONE IN KENTUCKY.

Great Damage Done Lancaster and Several Persons Injured.

Lancaster, Ky., June 26.—A cyclone struck near this place Wednesday night doing great damage.

On the road to Crab Orchard a dozen farm houses were blown to pieces and fences and wheat and trees carried away. The iron bridge across Gilbert creek was blown several yards. The $20,000 residence of Mrs. Joshua Daniels was wrecked. The residence of James Dalton was carried 25 yards himself and family therein. Several persons are reported injured, some being badly hurt.

THE STORM DESTRUCTIVE

Vast Property Wrecked, One Life Lost and Many Injured.

Indianapolis, June 26.—The entire north central portion of Indiana was visited Wednesday by one of the most disastrous storms that ever swept over the state.

Three storm swept section covers several hundred miles, from Hancock county, northwest, through the northern portion of Marion county, Hamilton and Boone counties and doing much damage in Tipton and adjacent counties. Madison county also felt its fury.

Thousands of buildings were razed, tens of thousands of trees were uprooted and now blockade highways, railroads and traction lines. Crops were utterly ruined, causing a loss estimated at nearly $2,000,000 and 50 persons were more or less injured.

Only two deaths have been reported with authority. Those were the killing of James Van Hoy, who was caught in the ruins of a collapsed barn near Pendleton, and James Bailey, who was killed by flying timbers at McCords.

The course of the storm was southeast and northwest. Its path was clear across the state. In the ruins left behind are many factories, churches, schoolhouses and frame residences. The most severe damage was in and near Hancock county. All wire communication between the cities and towns in the devastated district is cut off, and it will require several days to establish any wire service. Trains are running irregularly.

One Killed and Several Hurt.

Marietta, O., June 26.—In the tornado Wednesday night William Severns was killed; Mrs. John Drayer, Mrs. Stry and John Baker dangerously injured; Mrs. Henry Becker, seriously injured; Henry Becker and two children and several other badly injured. All of Marietta.

The total loss in this city is over $500,000.

After making these public bequests the dean directs that his wife shall have $75,000 if she desires to buy a home for herself. The rest of the estate is to be held in trust and $75,000 a year is to be paid to the widow. The remainder of the income is divided into four equal parts for his four children.

The dean left $5,000 to his book keeper and $2500 to his secretary.

Among the first to arrive was Secretary George A. Brnard of the Hood's Brigade Association, who came up from Houston, and spent most of the day at brigade headquarters at the city hall registering the names of all arrivals. The veteran secretary brought along the worn and tattered flag of the fifth Texas, which was viewed with interest by all who visited headquarters during the day. Owing to the fact that a complete list of the members of the brigade and visitors in attendance could not be obtained last night, the Eagle will not publish the list until tomorrow morning.

The public reunion will be held at the opera house at 11 a. m. After the speaking adjournment will be had to the old picnic grounds in the northwestern part of town, where the railroad barbecue was held. Hood's brigade will be served dinner first and the general public afterwards.

Suit Filed at Beaumont for Valuable Oil Lands Near There.

Beaumont, Tex., June 26.—A suit was filed in the district court of this county Wednesday, which for importance outclasses the famous Snow suit for certain lands in the John A. Veatch league, and affects fully as many if not more oil wells and proven oil land and oil companies.

TITLE IS ATTACKED.

Suit Filed at Beaumont for Valuable Oil Lands Near There.

Beaumont, Tex., June 26.—A suit was filed in the district court of this county Wednesday, which for importance outclasses the famous Snow suit for certain lands in the John A. Veatch league, and affects fully as many if not more oil wells and proven oil land and oil companies.

The suit is styled Jennie Halliburton et al. vs. J. S. Hogg et al., and is instituted to try the title for damages and for the appointment of a receiver to take care of the land and oil wells pending the settlement of the litigation.

The plaintiffs to the suit are Mrs.
 Jennie Halliburton, James Humphries,
 W. T. Humphries, S. E. Milford, M. D.
 Milford, Maggie Lingo and E. W. Lin-
 go. The defendants number, besides Mr. Hogg, some 200 or 250 oil companies, individuals, corporations, syn-dicates, etc., the intent being to name every person or corporation who owns any part of land or property in the Humphries league.

 fessing His Crime.

Laurel, Miss., June 26.—Wiley Campbell, a mulatto, who on Friday last attempted an assault on Miss Alice Bare-

 Saturday, taken to the scene of his crime and fully identified by the young lady, whose throat he had badly gashed with a knife, and also by her mother, who was knocked down and dangerously injured. The negro voluntarily confessed his crime, stating it was his intention to kill both the young lady and her mother had he not been frightened off by a dog. Immediately after the confession the negro was hanged to a tree and his body riddled with bullets. The crowd of 600 men then quietly dispersed.

WOOD A GREAT

He Is Especially Complimentary to Secretary Root and Judge Taft. Resents Criticism of Cuban and Philippine Wars.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26.—Commencement at Harvard university was of unusual interest Wednesday because of the presence of President Roosevelt, a guest of Harvard, class of 1880, who received the honorary degree of LL. D. There were other notable guests who also received the degree of LL. D. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., of Boston, and many graduate brought honor to their university.

Hon. John D. Long, president of Alumni association, presided at the banquet. The list of toasts included responses by President Eliot, Governor Crane, President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay, Prof. Alexander Agassiz and Malcolm Donald.

President Roosevelt spoke as follows:

"Mr. President, President Eliot and you, my fellow Harvard men: Before I say what I had intended to speak of, let me speak for all of you, I am sure; let me speak for all Americans today when I say when we watch with greatest concern and sympathy the sickness of the English king and that all Americans in tendering their hearty sympathy to the people of Great Britain now remember keenly the outburst of genuine grief which all England last fall greeted the calamity that befell us in the death of President McKinley."

The president then referred to his association with a large number of Harvard graduates who had rendered great service to the country, mentioning among them former Secretary of the Navy Long, whom he had been obliged to replace by another Harvard man; Senator Hoar, Cabot Lodge, who he called his "closest, staunchest and most personal friend," and Secretary of the State John Hay, to sit at the same council table with whom he regarded as a liberal education in high minded statesmanship. Continuing, he said:

"I want to speak of three other college graduates because of the service they have done the public. I want to speak of a graduate of Hamilton college, Elihu Root; graduate of Yale, Governor Taft, and of a fellow Harvard man, Leonard Wood (applause), men who did things, did not say how they should do them, but did them themselves, men who have met the greatest of our national needs, the need for the service that cannot be bought, the need for the service that can only be rendered by the man willing to forego the material advantages for it and has got to be given at the man's own material cost."

"When in England they get a man to do what Lord Cromer did in Egypt; when a man returns as Lord Kitchener will return from South Africa, they give him a peerage, and a great sum of money. He receives large and tangible reward and our countrymen, our men of that stamp come back to private life with the privilege of taking up what they can find of the strings left loose when they surrendered their old connections and if they are unfortunate they are accused of maladministration in office (laughter) not an accusation that hurts them, but an accusation that brands with infamy every man who makes it, and that reflects but ill on the country in which it is made. (Loud applause)."

"Leonard Wood, four years ago, went to Cuba; he served there ever since; has rendered services, to that country of the kind if performed 3000 years ago that would have made him a hero mixed up with the sun god in various ways. Credit to him? Yes, in a way. In another, no particular credit because he was built so that he could do nothing else (Loud applause). He came out having done that and having devoted himself as disinterestedly to the good of the Cuban people in all their relations as a man could. He has come back here and has been attacked forsooth by people who are not merely unworthy of having their names coupled with his, but who are incapable of understanding the motives that have spurred him on to bring honor to this Republic." (Applause).

The president then paid a high compliment to the ability of Judge Taft and spoke of the personal sacrifice he made when he began governor of the Philippines. In that position, he declared Governor Taft had to face a difficult problem which he had done his best to solve.

The president then spoke of Secretary of War Root who he declared had given up the respect of the leadership of the New York bar to become secretary of war under President McKinley. He referred to Root's arduous duties and spoke of the "arduous abilities" with which he handled the problem entrusted without reward save in the edge that he had done so.

which hardly any other man in union could have done so. President Roosevelt after quiet given in his honor at a quail club house by the Marine and military order of the American war. The made an address dealing with war in the Philippines.

the Panama canal... secure a clear title to... The final conference lasted only half an hour. Before the decision was reached Mr. Hepburn on behalf of the house conferees endeavored to secure a modification of the senate amendment limiting the president to six months time within which title to the Panama route is to be perfected. When this failed Mr. Hepburn made no further opposition and the senate amendment was concurred in exactly the form it passed the senate.

The Senate.

Washington, June 26.—In a few minutes Wednesday the senate disposed of for this session the omnibus statehood question, which has been pending for several days.

Mr. Beveridge of Indiana, chairman of the committee on territories, announced that a report on the bill before the committee would be made on the third day of the next session. This was satisfactory to Mr. Quay of Pennsylvania, who, after securing an agreement that the committee's report should be the unfinished business on and after the 10th of December until it was disposed of, withdrew his motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the measure.

A number of bills of minor importance were passed.

The conference report on the army appropriation bill was agreed to, this passing that measure and eliminating the friction which has existed between the two houses over it.

The House.

Washington, June 26.—The Philippine civil government bill was thrown open to amendment in the house Wednesday. Very slow progress was made, only 15 of the 59 pages of the bill being completed. By an amendment offered by Mr. Bartlett of Georgia, cases involving the construction of the constitution can be appealed of the islands to the supreme court of the United States, and by another offered by Mr. Littlefield of Maine, one corporation in the islands is prohibited from holding stock in another.

The earlier portion of the day was devoted to consideration of conference reports on the sundry civil, army and naval appropriation bills. The house adopted a proposition agreeable to the senate with reference to the disputed items in the army bill, and refused to agree to the senate amendments to the naval bill providing for five submarine torpedo boats.

Charged With Triple Murder.

Memphis, Tenn., June 26.—O. J. Thompson, a fisherman and occupant of a shanty boat, is in jail at Ripley, Tenn., charged with a triple murder.

On oath and before a justice of the peace, Ellen Thompson swears that O. J. Thompson killed her husband, who was living at Carruthersville, Mo., and at the point of a shotgun compelled her to move her household goods into his shanty boat and follow him with her two children down the river, and as a finale to the children, poisoned the two little girls, giving them tincture of iodine. Both died within twenty-four hours afterward.

The woman's story has created a high feeling in the Ripley community.

Electrical Wiring Bad.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 26.—About 30 telegrams were received Wednesday by local fire insurance agents from special agents instructing them to suspend business until outside electrical wiring is fixed according to the requirements of the companies electrical inspector. It is stated that about 40 companies have withdrawn their business from Fort Worth. Sixty-four fire insurance companies are represented here and the opinion is that more will withdraw.

At Waco—Waco, 9; Fort Worth, 1. Batteries, Yeager and Stubblefield, McKay and O'Donnell.

WOOD A GREAT

He Is Especially Complimentary to Secretary Root and Judge Taft. Resents Criticism of Cuban and Philippine Wars.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26.—Commencement at Harvard university was of unusual interest Wednesday because of the presence of President Roosevelt, a guest of Harvard, class of 1880, who received the honorary degree of LL. D. There were other notable guests who also received the degree of LL. D. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., of Boston, and many graduate brought honor to their university.

Hon. John D. Long, president of Alumni association, presided at the banquet. The list of toasts included responses by President Eliot, Governor Crane, President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay, Prof. Alexander Agassiz and Malcolm Donald.

President Roosevelt spoke as follows:

"Mr. President, President Eliot and you, my fellow Harvard men: Before I say what I had intended to speak of, let me speak for all of you, I am sure; let me speak for all Americans today when I say when we watch with greatest concern and sympathy the sickbed of the English king and that all Americans in tendering their hearty sympathy to the people of Great Britain now remember keenly the outburst of genuine grief which all England last fall greeted the calamity that befell us in the death of President McKinley."

The president then referred to his association with a large number of Harvard graduates who had rendered great service to the country, mentioning among them former Secretary of the Navy Long, whom he had been obliged to replace by another Harvard man; Senator Hoar, Cabot Lodge, who he called his "closest, staunchest and most personal friend," and Secretary of the State John Hay, to sit at the same council table with whom he regarded as a liberal education in high minded statesmanship. Continuing, he said:

"I want to speak of three other college graduates because of the service they have done the public. I want to speak of a graduate of Hamilton college, Elihu Root; graduate of Yale, Governor Taft, and of a fellow Harvard man, Leonard Wood (applause), men who did things, did not say how they should do them, but did them themselves, men who have met the greatest of our national needs, the need for the service that cannot be bought, the need for the service that can only be rendered by the man willing to forego the material advantages for it and has got to be given at the man's own material cost."

"When in England they get a man to do what Lord Cromer did in Egypt; when a man returns as Lord Kitchener will return from South Africa, they give him a peerage, and a great sum of money. He receives large and tangible reward and our Cromers, our men of that stamp come back to private life with the privilege of taking up what they can find of the strings left loose when they surrendered their old connections and if they are unfortunate they are accused of malversation in office (laughter) not an accusation that hurts them, but an accusation that brands with infamy every man who makes it, and that reflects but ill on the country in which it is made. (Loud applause)."

"Leonard Wood, four years ago, went to Cuba; he served there ever since; has rendered services, to that country of the kind if performed 3000 years ago that would have made him a hero mixed up with the sun god in various ways. Credit to him? Yes, in a way. In another, no particular credit because he was built so that he could do nothing else (Loud applause). He came out having done that and having devoted himself as disinterestedly to the good of the Cuban people in all their relations as a man could. He has come back here and has been attacked forsooth by people who are not merely unworthy of having their names coupled with his, but who are incapable of understanding the motives that have spurred him on to bring honor to this Republic." (Applause).

The president then paid a high compliment to the ability of Judge Taft and spoke of the personal sacrifice he made when he began governor of the Philippines. In that position, he declared Governor Taft had to face a difficult problem which he had done his best to solve.

The president then spoke of Secretary of War Root who he declared had given up the respect of the leadership of the New York bar to become secretary of war under President McKinley. He referred to Root's arduous duties and spoke of the "arduous abilities" with which he handled the problem, entrusted without reward save in the knowledge that he had done his duty which hardly any other man in the union could have done as well.

President Roosevelt then spoke of the coronation of the emperor of the Philippines given in his honor at the club house by the Manila naval and military order of the Philippine-American war. The president made an address dealing with war in the Philippines.

CRITICAL SITUATION.

Revolutionists Defeat Venezuelan Troops and Deserters Numerous.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 26.—The situation in Venezuela is critical. The Venezuelan government forces have been defeated again near Urica; in the state of Cumana, by the rear guard of General Mateo's revolutionary army. Deserters and fugitives are entering Cumana and Barcelona by the hundreds. Among them is Garido, son of the war minister.

The new disaster complicate Gen. Castro's position in Barcelona, the headquarters of President Castro's largest army. Gen. Velunthi, the chief commander, quarrels daily with Gen. Castro (who is a brother of the president) and he will abandon the command.

The government is compelling importers at Carupano to pay again the duties collected on goods received during the late occupation of the town by the revolutionists. The first payment was made to the revolutionists which causes a new diplomatic incident.

The United States vice consul, Juan A. Orsini, has left Carupano for Trinidad. His life was daily menaced by soldiers for having tried to protect the interests of French citizens, he being also consul for France.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Annulment of Laws by Court Makes the Ohio Legislature Necessary.

Columbus, O., June 26.—An extra session of the Ohio legislature now seems certain. The supreme court during the present week has held a number of important laws invalid. Decisions handed down hold the Cleveland city government unconstitutional and also the special law enacted for the city of Toledo, taking control of police out of the hands of Mayor Jones.

The court in the Trauger case directs Governor Nash to appoint a lieutenant governor to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Lieutenant Governor Nippert.
